A thriving school district is an asset to any community regardless of whether you have children who attend our schools. Successful school districts attract families which in turn draws new business to our city. Unfortunately, the State has not adequately funded the capital formula for nearly a decade. Consequently, AJUSD, like other districts, must absorb some of the costs to make necessary repairs and updates to air conditioners, roofs, flooring, security and fire systems at our schools. Moreover, classroom and administrative technology must be maintained and modernized. We have had two children attend and graduate from Apache Junction Schools. As a result, we are very aware of the challenges and issues our students face in the classroom and while participating in sports and extracurricular activities. A vote in favor of the bond will help ensure that our students are provided with the same opportunities and advantages of children in surrounding districts. Moreover, and based on current home values, passing this bond will allow for school improvements without increasing our current tax rate.
